

Good Food Good Mood Brief

Good Food Good Mood is a website designed to combat food waste by connecting users with surplus food from local restaurants and stores.

The platform, built using the PERN stack, offers a user-friendly interface where individuals can browse and purchase available food items at discounted prices.

By facilitating the sale of excess food, the website aims to provide affordable options for users while reducing food waste.

Participating restaurants benefit from an additional revenue stream, increased customer reach, and a positive contribution to sustainability.

With features such as user authentication, order history, and a restaurant dashboard, Good Food Good Mood creates a seamless experience for both users and participating establishments.

The website's mission is to promote a more sustainable and conscientious approach to food consumption, benefitting both individuals and the environment.